The Museum of Tomorrow

Design by Santiago Calatrava

The Museum of Tomorrow, locally known as "Museu do Amanhã" in Portuguese, is a true testament to innovative design and sustainability. Designed by the renowned Spanish architect Santiago Calatrava, this futuristic museum is a captivating blend of architecture, science, and art.

MAC Niterói

The MAC Niterói is primarily an art museum, featuring a collection of modern and contemporary Brazilian art.

Both the Museum of Tomorrow and the Niterói Contemporary Art Museum exemplify Rio de Janeiro's commitment to pushing the boundaries of architectural design. These two landmarks offer not only a glimpse into the future but also a profound appreciation for the creative genius of Santiago Calatrava and Oscar Niemeyer in shaping the architectural landscape of Rio and beyond.
